Don't let your past
control your future
with God.

Your past has purpose.
Everything that happens in your life exists to make God more fully known
to you and others.

As you are increasingly
secure in God's love,
you will increasingly tear
down the walls of
self-protection.

God made you
the way you are,
and he will use you with
the personality you have.

Whoever you are today
is who God is going to use.

When shame makes you
want to run and hide,
run to God for refuge
and acceptance.

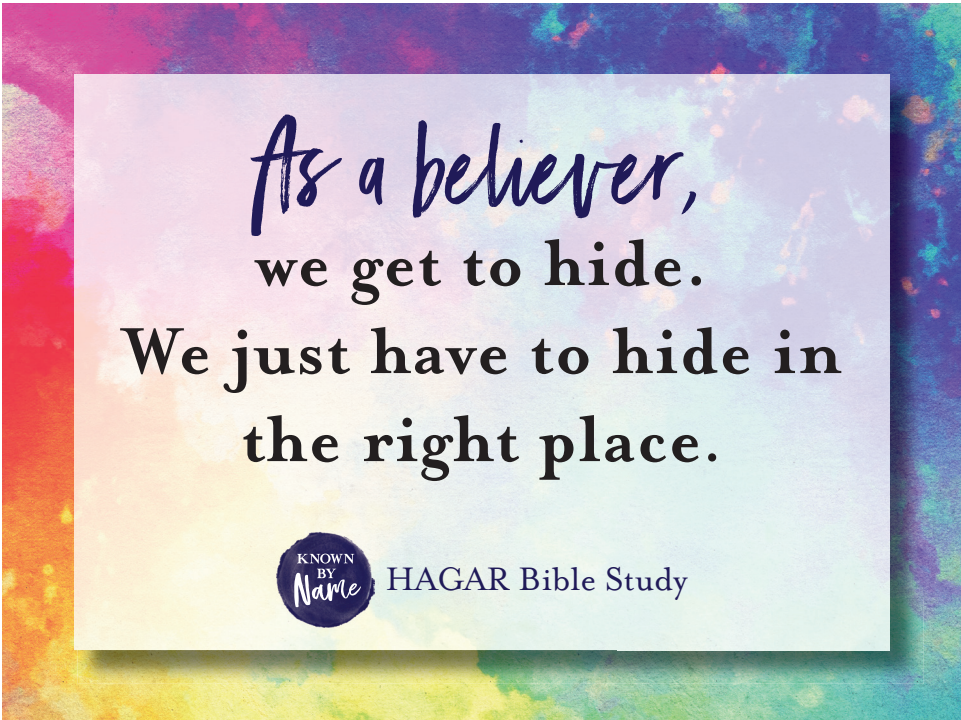

God made you qualified.
He uses everything
you have been
for his mission.

Even when you
feel like a victim,
in God you are
vindicated.

As a believer,
we get to hide.
We just have to hide in
the right place.

You can get stuck
looking at the "what."
But freedom is found in the "why."

Running does not
get you closer to God.
It only delays
your reunion.

Freedom is any place
in us that believes
we are fully and finally accepted in God.

When life does
not affirm
your significance,
God will.

Being hurt by God's people
isn't the same as
being hurt by God.

Many times our blessing
comes after we have facilitated The blessing
of someone else.

When you choose to define yourself by
your life circumstances,
you can miss out on
The calling God has for you.

Take action on the things you have the power to influence, and pin your hope on God's never-failing love for the rest.

Let others be drawn to you by the honesty with which you deal with loss
in the presence of God.
